There are lots of games and resources to help you with Phonics teaching and the children love to play them.

These activities are all about consolidating what your children have learned so far, there will be some repetition, but even if you think your child is secure with these sounds please keep going over them again and again - especially with the writing and letter formation. Overlearning and practising is fundamental to good phonic knowledge. We practise all of the sounds again and again in class everyday and the children should continue with this.
